THE CONSTITUTION OF ARIZONA.

The constitution of Arizona is considered the most radical in the United States. Its most important provisions are:

Initiative and referendum; percentages of 10 and 5, respectively.

Anti-child labor provision.

Amendment to the constitution by a majority vote of the people upon initiative of 15 per cent of voters.

Non-partisan election of the judiciary.

Recall of all elective officers.

Anti-lobbying law.

Direct primaries.

Direct advisory primary for senators.

Instructions to legislature to enact a corrupt practice law.

Rigid corporation regulation, with provision to abolish wildcatting.

Physical valuation of railroads as a basis for rate regulation.

Corporation commission with wide powers.

Employers' liability provision.

Mandate for the enactment of a law.

Restricting sale of public lands to prevent land-grabbing.

Abolition of fee system of all public officers.

Giving cities over 3500 population right to frame their own charters.

Prohibiting employment of aliens on public work.

The Carnegie library building is suffering for want of repairs and will be permanently damaged if neglected longer. A leak in the roof over the room occupied by the Woman's Club has discolored the wall, and the window sashes and casings are badly decayed. This is the second time recently that The Eagle has called attention to this matter, and if something isn't done there are those who will insist on knowing the reason why.

The seismograph recorded but did not locate the earthquake of yesterday morning. The telegraph located it in Russian Turkestan. The meager reports indicate that the disaster is equal to the great catastrophe in the same region in 1897.

If, as is claimed, the Satsuma orange trees in the coast country have withstood the late freeze without serious damage, it is safe to say that orange growing in that belt has passed the experimental stage.

The latest from Tegucigalpa is that the government is in a panic because Christmas is coming—Gen. Lee Christmas, the leader of the insurgents.

The Mexican insurgents have captured Cushtulachic. The Aztec nomenclature contains about as many jawbreakers and tongue-twisters as the mixed jargons of the Balkans.

Jack Frost didn't catch the roses, geraniums, palms and pot plants in Orange. The town cow had eaten them up before the freeze came.

Senator Steve Elkins died last night. Who will be the next "duke of West Virginia?"

The Tyler Courier-Times says: "We are not much inclined to favor any scheme which will result in making it more difficult for a poor man to secure a home in Texas." We infer that this applies to the proposition of Land Commissioner Robison to sell the leavings of the school lands without requiring settlement. If the editor of the Courier-Times will go and look at those lands he will see that it is impossible for a poor man to make a home on them, and to encourage him to make the attempt would be not only unjust but cruel.

The two negro republics (so-called) on the island of Hayti are scrapping again. The only sure way to secure permanent peace on what was once known as the "Queen of the Antilles" is to furnish both belligerents with plenty of machine guns, dynamite and other instruments of destruction, and let them have a Kilkenney cat fight to a finish. The island could then be repopulated with people who would develop its neglected resources.

Dr. W. D. Yett was defeated for the legislature in the Sixty-third district. Evidently a majority of the people of Williamson and Burnet do not consider him the best yet.

The Beaumont Enterprise begins a paragraph: "Down in El Paso county." The lowest point in El Paso county is about three thousand feet higher than Beaumont.

The production is founded on the grand old poem of "Under the Mistletoe Bough," and during the three scenes eighteen musical numbers taken from the latest musical com-
